Annotated Bibliography of Linguistic Resources Linguistics Linguistics is the study of languages and how they work. Linguists describe a language the way it is in real life unlike grammarians who prescribe or correct language behavior. Linguistics covers topics like phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, neurolinguistics, sociolinguistics and historical linguistics.

In linguistics, language signs are constituted of four different levels, not just two: phonology, morphology, syntax and semantics. Semantics deals with the meanings (what is signified), while the other three are all concerned with the exponent. At the lowest level we find that everything is composed from a small
